Dear K, my excess tiredness when you and Mary were here was probably the early stages of the illness from which I think I'm recovering well. Still quite weak but no fever and the back chest pain had subsided enough so I could sleep in bed instead of upright. ...Thnks to you both for your note and card, and esp. for the timely Wecht clippings. He is about to make a still further mess. Sorry I had to write in such haste but the effort to prevent whatever other damage his ceaseless self-seeking and self-promoting is essential. No telling how he will react because he has an incredible ego and such a lust for attention and reputation. I may have to mark the carbon for return. Our best, HW 5/1/75
